Biography of the Late Opanin Daniel Adofo Sarpong

"For we know that if this earthy tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God and house not made with hands but eternal in heaven."
(2 Cor 5:1)

BIRTH AND PARENTAGE

The late Opanin Kwadwo Sarpong, affectionately called Agya Seaman by family members was born on the 16th of March 1938 at Kwahu Praso in the Eastern Region of Ghana.

His parents were the late Opanin Seth Kwabena Adofo and Obaapanin Comfort Abena Ofosuhemaa, all of blessed memory. Both were from Obo Kwahu in the Eastern Region of Ghana.

EARLY CHILDHOOD AND EDUCATION

Daniel Kwadwo Sarpong had his primary education at the Kwahu Praso Presby Primary School in 1944. His parents who were farmers migrated to Mamponteng, a village near Banso in the Asante Akyem District where they had acquired a fertile land for their farming activities.

Since there were no schools in and around Mamponteng, the parents were compelled to send young Daniel to stay with one of his paternal uncles at Obo Kwahu to continue his middle school education.
At Obo Kwahu, he exhibited brilliance in his studies and this made the school authorities recommend him to the headmaster and he was elected as the school prefect in 1953.

He sat for the middle school leaving certificate examination in 1954 and passed with distinction.

Desirous and enthusiastic as he was, young Daniel gained admission to St. Peters Secondary School at Nkwatia in 1955. He left the school two years after, due to ill health.

WORK AND SOCIAL LIFE

Being the only male child, his father didn't want his son's life to be wasted so he bought a mini bus for him to operate a transport business between Nkawkaw and Praso. He did this transport business for four years and it couldn't stand the test of time so it collapsed.

In 1960, young Adofo relocated to Accra in search of greener pastures but this also couldn't come to fruition, so he joined the Young Farmers League, a political pressure group of the Convention People's Party (C.P.P).

In 1962, he was sent to be trained as a cadet at the Kwame Nkrumah Ideological Institute at Winneba. After his training, he was stationed at Oyarifa, where he was given the oversight responsibilities as a Liason officer for the brigade farms in Oyarifa, Greater Accra and Kwamoso in the Eastern Region.

He did this work successfully for two years and the 1966 coup d'etat which overthrew the C.P.P government rendered him redundant and jobless. So, he returned to the village to help his parents in their farming work.

Biography of the Late Opanin Daniel Adofo Sarpong

MARRIAGE AND FAMILY LIFE

The desire of any young man is to get a wife and build a family. Young Daniel Adofo Sarpong did just that when in 1969, he couldn't resist the charm of the late Mad. Ama Serwah, popularly called Ama B' and married her.
The marriage lasted for 22 years and was blessed with twelve (12) children, six (6) males and six (6) females. The death of Mad. Ama B' ended the marriage in 1991.
Three years after her death, Opanin Sarpong married a second wife Mad. Mary Kyewaa, whom he has lived with till his death.

RELIGIOUS LIFE

Even though he was baptized into the Presbyterian faith, he met Christ at a crusade organized by the True Faith Church one evening in 1972 at Kwahu Praso and since then he has been a staunch member of the True Faith Church, where he held leadership position for the church in Asante Akyem Area.

HEALTH CHALLENGES

Since 2010, he has been battling with sickness and has been in and out of the hospital several times.

In spite of all these, he held unto the promise of his maker never shrinking his responsibilities as the family Head of Kwaku Yiadom Abusua, a parent, an ardent Christian and counsellor to all.
On the 14th of March, 2026, he fell ill again and he was taken to the hospital for what was thought to be one of the usual short visits to hospital but it turned out to be his last few days on earth. So, on the 16th of March 2026, he passed on to glory.

CONCLUSION

Opanin Seaman, your memories will forever remain in the hearts of the entire Obo Asona family, knowing that when the trumpet sounds, we shall meet again.
Till then, Wofa Kwadwo Adofo Sarpong, Nante yie ooo.

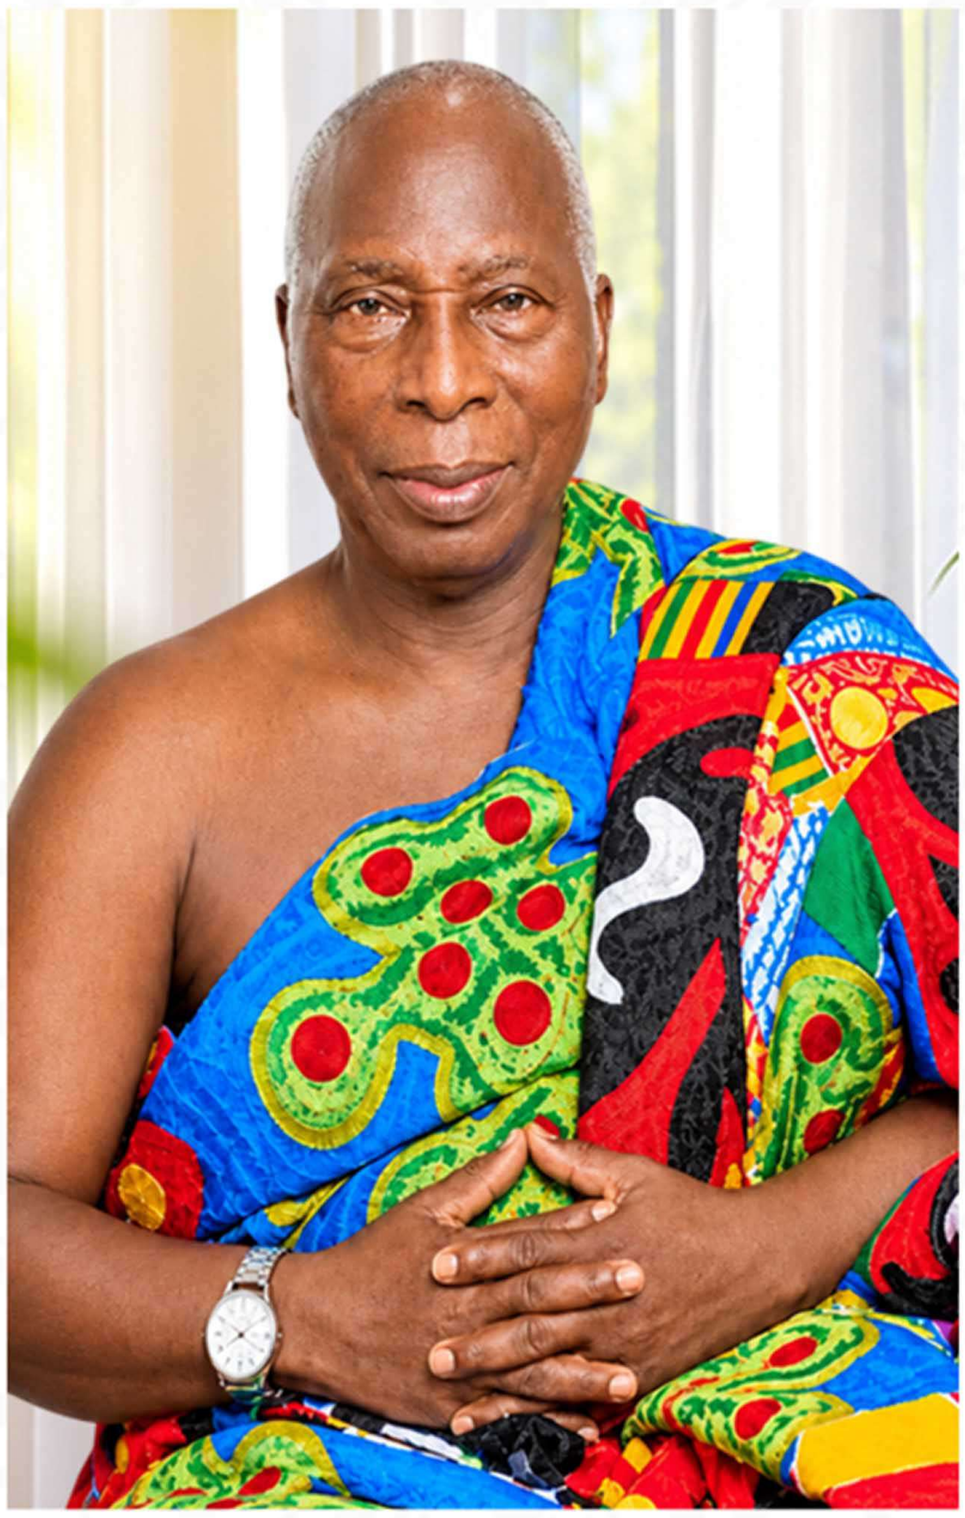
MAY THE GOOD LORD GRANT YOU ETERNAL REST



Tribute By Wife

BLESSED ARE THOSE WHO DIE IN THE LORD, FOR THEY SHALL REST FROM THEIR LABOUR

AGYA SEAMAN, as I affectionately called you, your death has caused a great pain in my heart. I feel a deep sense of loss; however, your immense love and care are still fresh in my mind.
My dear husband, you were the best friend and companion God ever gave to me; and I never imagined that you would leave me so suddenly.
But, you will all bear with me that God's ways are not our ways neither his thoughts, He gives freely and takes back at His own will.

My dear husband, you gave me hope when all hope seemed to be lost and throughout our many years of marriage, we kept our belief that all will be well. Indeed, you strategized your plans very well and these have positioned your children to be industrious, to appreciate the beauty of life and to effectively deal with all the harshness of life.

You have indeed been a tower of strength and a real pillar in my life, you stood strong and ensured our welfare, not only in times of difficulties, but at all times.

Agya Seaman, for the many years we have been together, I can proudly testify that you were extremely generous, a man of principle who believed in moral uprightness. You expected nothing less from all who came to you and failed to call a spade a spade.

My dear, you were in Christ and in death, you still remained steadfast in Christ. Today you are no more but such is life. We as human beings cannot understand the ways of God and we accept it.

Although, my heart is very heavy with sorrow, I am confident that you are in the bosom of the Almighty God. I will surely miss your companionship, advice and encouragement.

I am sure that the good Lord has called you to a higher service that he will keep you until the final day when we shall reunite with you in heaven.

May your soul rest in perfect peace.

"If we live, it is for the Lord that we live, and if we die, it is for the Lord that we die. So whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord." Rom. 14:8

Daddy indeed you have fought a good fight, you have finished the good race, and you have kept the faith. Now there is in store for you the crown of righteousness.

To every beginning there is an end. Death is a must for everyone, but sometimes, how and when it comes gives us so much pain. It is with heavy hearts that we pay our last respect to our father who was blessed to live and work in this world for Eighty-Eight (88) years.

Today as we mourn, and bid you farewell, we also wish to express our deepest gratitude and love for all sacrifices you made for us. As we thank God for such a loving father, we also owe to you what we are today. Your contribution into our lives and that of many others was immense.

We know that the only way we can relate to you henceforth is to constantly draw strength from the legacy of love, unity, hard work, forgiveness and devotion to God which was your hallmark.

You never lost any opportunity, but to indicate to us that we should always strive hard to achieve much academically since that was something no one dispossesses us of. Your calm, unassuming and serene character spoke a lot about you.

Your remarkable ability to blend strict discipline with resilient loving kindness in dealing with us will forever remain an indelible imprint on our mind.

You showed appreciation where needed and never hid your feelings about things. We shall miss the jokes you shared with us.

Ecclesiastes 3:1 says: "For everything there is an appointed time, even a time for every affair under the heavens: a time for birth and a time to die."

This quotation from Ecclesiastes tells us that even though we may have our own plans, God sets His own time for everything. We therefore believe that, no matter how painful it is, the time for Daddy to go to rest had been arranged by God Almighty.

He indeed has fought a good fight and run a good race and also can be sure that he has won that race.

Words cannot express how we feel today but we are encouraged in the knowledge that you are resting in the bosom of the Almighty Father.

We live in the hope that we shall be reunited at the Resurrection. We bid you farewell as you cross over to the other side.

May the good Lord give your soul eternal rest until we meet again.

Fare thee, well, Daddy.

Tribute By GrandChildren

Oh Grandpa death has really left a big hole in our heart. Death has taken from us one great and valuable asset. You left at a time that we mostly needed you, at a time that we needed a comforter and a stronghold guardian.

All we wanted was to repay you for the good and wonderful things you did for us in our lives. A caring heart is hard to find but we found it in your bosom.

We will not live in regret but thank the Almighty God for your life on earth, and also to thank God for given us a special person like you. You were a grandfather a teacher a guardian and comforter. We will forever miss you.

We will always love and remember you, because you showed us love and affection that we haven't yet experienced. What God has said is final and nobody can oppose it.

We know you will be at the right hand of the Almighty God because of the good works you did on earth. We don't have much to say than to accord you all the thanks and praises.

GRANDPA DAMIRIMFA DUE
REST IN PERFECT PEACE
YOU WILL ALWAYS BE IN OUR HEARTS!!!
AMEN

He was among the leaders who opened the church at Police-Krom on 8th February 1989. So he met Opanin Matthew Sasu and they started working together.

So they both transferred the church from Police-Krom to Mamponteng and they opened the church at Mamponteng.
